The Spring Literacy Remix: Books, Joy, and End-of-Year Engagement

Spring is the perfect time to reenergize your literacy instruction and revitalize the routines that matter most. Join Maria for an engaging virtual session that blends high-impact read aloud practices with joyful end-of-year literacy strategies. Explore practical, easy-to-implement ideas that make your read-aloud experiences even more interactive and purposeful while also empowering students to independently apply key reading strategies as the year winds down. Together, we'll reflect on what's working in your classroom, discover fresh approaches that spark curiosity, and gather classroom-tested techniques to deepen discussion, boost comprehension, and elevate student engagement. You'll leave with a curated list of must-read picture books and actionable strategies that set students up for summer reading success.
