Learning Opportunity

What the Research Really Says!

In this session Dr. Lindsey will dive into what literacy really is by discussing several key models of reading, the development of literacy over time, and myths about reading research. Participants will come away with a clear understanding of the components of successful literacy instruction as well as new understandings about how all these components come together.

Presenters

Julia Lindsey

Julia B. Lindsey, Ph.D., is a literacy expert who partners with districts to transform reading outcomes. She is the author of Reading Above the Fray, and Small Groups, Big Results, an upcoming book that shares solutions for differentiation in literacy instruction. Dr. Lindsey's work focuses on building teacher knowledge, supporting the implementation of evidence-based practices and materials, and ensuring all students can become successful, empowered young readers. Dr. Lindsey holds a BS in Psychology from Davidson College, a MAT from Relay Graduate School of Education, and a Ph.D. in Educational Studies from the University of Michigan. She is a proud former elementary school teacher.
